Natural Gas and Salt Water Development at Cloverport.

The salt well on Major Miller's land reached the "lower vein" of salt water at 2 o'clock p. m., on last Saturday. The quality of the water was what was expected and desired, and the quantity more than satisfactory. In a few hours there were four hundred feet of salt water in the well. Dr. J. F. Barnum came down from Louisville and was delighted with the appearance of things. The well is now 461 feet deep.

This well was sunk for the Crockett Soda and Salt Company, Bennett H. Young, president. The company now has on its property a gas well and a salt well, both sufficient and highly satisfactory, and it may now be said that the development of their property has reached all that the company has sought for the last six months.

A combination of limestone, natural gas and salt water in large quantities on the same spot is indeed rare, with a railroad penetrating and a large river flowing beside the property with a deep water harbor in its front.

But such is the case and general congratulations are indulged in. The Barnum patent for the production of soda ash and its by-products is fully completed at Washington. Every impediment seems to be removed, and the construction of the works will be no longer delayed.

The gas field at Cloverport is manifested to be all that can be reasonably desired. But two wells are being employed to supply the domestic wants of the city. The others are as yet idle, and each of the pipe line companies have a well ready to be turned into the mains in case very cold weather shall make it necessary to do so.

The field is shown to be a fruitful one, and whenever and wherever needed or in the city, gas shall be needed the drill will furnish it. Any number of manufacturing concerns with a few feet of the furnace, by penetrating the earth to a depth of 800 feet. The river and the rail alongside afford rapid and cheap transportation. These are the results learned and established within the last eighteen months.

Our people have not been idle. They have realized that patience and perseverance would accomplish the desired end of revealing what we have. They knew it was necessary to do so, and have faltered neither in faith nor effort. Croakers there were to revile—rival towns and people were abundant to baffle and misrepresent. But they moved onward, till now they stand on a fact as immutable as truth.

Cloverport's future as a large town is assured. She invites immigration and industry into her midst. Her people have expended thousands to exhibit and develop her vast possibilities, and they are offered to the capitalist and the artisan to materialize.

Dr. Barnum arrived here Monday night and says his company is satisfied with the recent developments, and they will go to work erecting their plant here immediately after the first of January.

Why It Is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of success. One dollar is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

Holiday Excursion Rates.
The L. & N. T. & I. railroad will on December 24, 25 and 31st and January 1st, sell holiday excursion tickets between all stations on its line at one and one-third fare for the round trip. Return limited to January 5th.

Pire and Paving Brick Material.
At the eastern edge of the city is a peculiar sight, and the passerby inquires its meaning. At the edge of the railroad track is a well ten feet in diameter and twenty-three feet deep. From it has been taken and tested a peculiar clay or slate. Its color is singular and variegated. Its quantity is apparently limitless.

The product of this hole makes a brick hard as flint and glazed on its surface, which withstands the action of fire beyond all others, and makes a pavement impervious to water and frost and wear. It also makes the best filling, and is regarded to be a most valuable discovery.

A large manufacturing concern in one of our cities has been quietly prosecuting the investigation and tests of this remarkable product of nature, and rumor says is far advanced toward establishing extensive works to utilize it.
